

Skipping the prototype phase: new trend in product development?